WE NOMINATE

John Quincy Stewart, professor of astronomical physics here at the University and a pioneer in the modern development of "social physics," whose wide range of interests, and capacity for making others think, have been driving forces in the community's intellectual life for the past three decades. Trained as an astronomer, and among the first scientists to simulate human speech electrically, Stewart in recent years—with the support of the Rockefeller Foundation, the Institute for Advanced Study and the University—has attracted wide attention in considering how the laws of natural science can help offset the "tragic lag" in social studies.

The 57-year old Stewart emphasizes that it takes ideas to defend ideas; that knowledge should not be so compartmentalized that specialists can indulge the human passion for "empire-building"; that there is a need for individuals who can see the whole picture and transfer information from one field to another. While urging the application of mathematical and physical laws to large-scale problems in human behavior, Stewart has small patience for such meaningless statistical descriptions as the one recently presented by the Bureau of the Census in announcing the shift of the nation's center of population from an Indiana to an Illinois farm.

"Every ten years," according to Stewart, "this antique mathematical whimsy is recomputed at taxpayers' expense . . . The fact is that this population center of gravity is principally bureaucratic hocus-pocus. Mathematical thinking has many very important applications in the social field but this is not one of them." It is nothing new for Stewart to speak his mind on any subject on which he feels strongly. Following World War II, he was one of the few who didn't hesitate to advocate a large permanent professional army affording worthwhile careers for all ranks.

A native of Harrisburg, Pa., and a Princeton classmate of James Forrestal's, Stewart in World War I served with the Army's Flash and Sound Ranging Service and joined the faculty in 1921. One of the high points of his career was the organization of the 1937 expedition that observed the longest total solar eclipse (7 minutes, 6 seconds) since 699 aboard the S. S. Steelmaker, halfway between Honolulu and the Panama Canal. In 1943 he co-authored the first text ever to unify air and sea navigation and in 1945 guided 220 scientists and laymen in studying another total eclipse.

For his achievements as a humanist as well as a scientist; for disregarding traditional boundaries in seeking a better balance between the natural and the social sciences; for understanding that material agencies alone are not "sufficient defense of America, of humanity;" he is our nominee for

Topics of the Town

Railroad on the Move. Strictly unofficially, there are increasing signs that the Pennsylvania Railroad is working toward discontinuation of its shuttle service between Princeton and the Junction. Such a report (neither confirmed nor denied by P.R.R. officials) was first published here last August. If train service is discontinued, passengers will be transported to and from the Junction by bus.

In Borough Hall, it is a matter of record that the railroad had its freight station up for sale but that the transaction was not completed when zoning restrictions blocked its use for business purposes by a new owner. The area is residential in nature, and if the property changes hands, present non-conforming uses must be discontinued.

For that reason, too, borough officials are interested in learning what the Pennsylvania proposes to do with its passenger station. Actually, of course, there is no question of the railroad's making a sudden move without providing advance information. The borough anticipates that it will be kept abreast of all action and, in addition, requires that subdivision of property be recorded with the municipality in advance.

Exactly what the Pennsylvania expects to gain by its reticence isn't clear, particularly when a perfectly acceptable substitute plan for transportation is proposed. In just what fashion freight shipments to Princeton would be handled is even less clear, but presumably some combination of rail and truck facilities will be employed. It is believed that some of the tracks will continue to be used for freight and for occasional football specials.

At the core of the matter is the fact that Princeton is vitally interested in any major change affecting its status as a residential community. If a freight and passenger station of 30 years' standing are likely to be played on the market, municipal guidance of any such transaction is obviously essential.

Township Bulletins. Princeton Township made news on four points this week: for the third time in the post-war years, its residents will vote in November on the Sunday sale of alcoholic beverages; it will have a contest for the position of tax assessor; the municipality will require hunters to have written permission of property owners on whose lands they shoot; and a full-fledged war on speeders is in the making.

A petition has been received at Township Hall asking that the question of Sunday liquor sales between the hours of 1 P. M. and 12 midnight appear on the general election ballot November 6. It bore the total of 257 names, and was above the required 15 percent of the 1,604 voters who partook in the last election.

For nearly 15 years after repeal, the township permitted the sale of liquor on Sundays but a referendum proposing it be banned was carried. Later, a second vote was taken on the question and the ban was upheld; next month, it will be up for the third time, with interest running high on both sides.

Last month, George C. Knaeller resigned because of the pressure of business affairs as the township's tax assessor and William M. Karch of 115 Jefferson Road was appointed in his place. This week, Clarence H. Rodefald of 190 Moore Street announced his intention to oppose Mr. Karch at the polls on November 6.

A number of Herrontown Road residents complained at Monday night's township committee meeting that hunters each fall have not only trespassed on their land but have come dangerously near houses while in search of game. Mrs. Claire R. Levine of Harris Road, a property owner on Herrontown Road, spoke of attempts to combat this situation in the past without success.

The committee had already prepared an ordinance requiring all who hunt in the future to carry with them the written permission of those whose land they use. The public hearing is set for October 20 with the law to become effective before the 1951 season opens.

Edgerstowne Road residents also issued a protest at Monday's session, John F. McAndrew speaking for a number of them against the excess speeding of cars in that area.
Magistrate Louis R. Gerber, agreeing that the situation is "a real menace," has announced plans to
"crack down" on offenders.

Last Thursday night, nine of ten summoned for traffic violations—most of them for speeding—failed to appear. Warrants for their arrest were issued, with Mr. Gerber declaring that "revocation of licenses may be necessary to persuade some of these people that we mean business."

Protection From Vendors. Tuesday night, another request to toughen its attitude went to the mayor and council, the Princeton Business Association asking that a four-point policy of restriction be placed on itinerant vendors. Seeking protection for the town's established merchants in many fields, the Business Association asked for legislation which will:

Raise daily fees to $25 (in contrast to the $2 to $10 charged now for varying periods) and annual fees for returning food vendors to $400;

Require vendors to keep moving, whether on foot or on wheels, save when actually making a sale;

Prevent them from selling competitive merchandise in the same block—that is, ice cream could not be sold within that distance of an established restaurant, etc.;

Make them comply with the same health requirements to which food handlers in the borough are subjected.

The request, made by Oren Jack Turner, Jr. on behalf of the Business Association, was accepted by the council for further study.

(People They're Talking About)

... Cun Hammond whose long-time hobby spinning out popular songs has hit the pot 'o gold at the end of the juke boxes with a melody called "Turn Back the Hands of Time." Eddie Fisher — newest Johnny to our Frankie — has recorded it for Victor with background music by the Hugo Winterhalter orchestra and choir; and three different disc jockey polls have voted it most likely to stampede the Hit Parade. Decca and Capitol, not to be outdone, are waxing it now; but for a fast split ask for the Victor version at The Music Shop, 18 Nassau Street. It couldn't happen to a nicer guy!

... Henry Martin young man with pen in cheek whose miniature black and whites are gaining recognition in the New Yorker, Saturday Review of Literature, Gourmet, The Herald Tribune, has done his own entrancing version of Nassau Hall, postcard size, which is now available at The Town Shop, 12 Nassau, for $1.50 a box. We ourselves would love some of his sly good humor framed to laugh with on a tank of a Monday—it's a chuckle!

... From gourmet to gourmet—Mamie Kimberley, 9 Southern Way, who's been madly baking the most delicious brownies with the most delicious nonchalance for an impassioned fan of friends, has just come up with another tea cozy she calls pecan puffs. These are a cross between a cookie and a cake, being little nugget-like balls that are slightly crunchy and altogether heavenly rolled in powdered sugar hot from the oven. Twenty-four hours notice and they're all yours to alternate with the brownies for $1.25 a batch. You can call her at 3021.

... Another taste has been added, this time to French Dressing. Now you can toss out all those half-used experiments, for here is a dressing with true Gallic zest made from an old family recipe. Mrs. V. A. Spicer (at 3956-J) makes it to order on 24-hour notice also. And it is 60¢ a pint to $1 a gallon—if it's mountains of greens you're tossing for a mob.

... Mrs. Emilie Leivalt, a native of Estonia, now living in Kingston, knows the truly fine art of needlework without any of the limitations that Mr. Singer seems to have imposed on most American sewing bees. Her catch is the fine—almost invisible hand-done seam... exquisite drawn work... hand weaving... the silkiest, smoothest monogramming we've ever seen. If you have a creative eye toward such things... or perhaps some fine old pieces of linen that you would like worked into modern place mats and napkins, Mrs. Leivalt is your answer. You may call her for an appointment at 2821-R.

... Mrs. George Fenwick Jones, new resident of Princeton who's whipped into town like a breeze of fresh air. Still in the maddening process of getting together a house, she still has loads of time and enthusiasm to talk on her favorite subject—children's art.

A firm believer in free-line drawing and all the creative expression that wells up in a child when you throw away the book, Mrs. Jones—Continued on Page 11

TOPICS OF THE TOWN —Continued from Page 3

In essence, the protection requested for the town's year-round tax or rent-paying business firms was the type to which they appeared to be fully entitled.

Turnpike Tolls. With the southern portion (Bordentown to the Delaware Memorial Bridge) of the New Jersey Turnpike scheduled to open during the first week in November, toll charges for the 118-mile highway have been made public. The northern stretch from Bordentown to the Lincoln Tunnel will be open before December 1, with the remaining nine miles leading to the George Washington Bridge scheduled to be ready shortly after the first of the year.

A passenger car may travel the entire distance for $1.75, with tolls for trailers and larger trucks ranging upwards to $3. The nearest approach from Princeton will be ten miles to the southeast, just beyond Hightstown on the highway to Freehold and shore points.

Under the current rates, Princetonians traveling south will pay 50 cents to reach Camden or Philadelphia and 90 cents to the Delaware Memorial Bridge. Northward, these tolls will be required: to Newark, 70 cents; the Holland Tunnel, 90 cents; Lincoln Tunnel, 95 cents; and George Washington Bridge (leading to New York and Connecticut parkways), $1.10.

Wet Sunday. Nearly as much rain fell on Princeton last Sunday afternoon as was recorded during the November 25 hurricane. Close to two inches in a series of cloudbursts drenched the Princeton area, making the long drought that had set in during August.

With early autumn leaves in the streets, storm drains were clogged faster than usual by the heavy downpour and streets in several parts of town were flooded. Winds from 30 to 40 miles an hour blew down some trees and many branches, severing electric power wires in both the borough and township. A tree that crashed down at 154 Witherspoon Street narrowly missed the home of Mrs. Pearl Allen, while others partially blocked traffic on Mercer Road and the Lawrenceville-Princeton Road at the top of Burrers Hill.

Drive Starts Sunday. The annual house-to-house canvass undertaken by the Princeton Community Chest will be launched Sunday afternoon, with the drive expected to be finished in a week. Some 300 solicitors will undertake to complete more than 3,000 assignments, thereby achieving a 100 percent participation for the community.

Matthews Construction Co. will erect a seven-foot thermometer in Palmer Square on which the daily progress of the drive will be recorded. A goal of $112,167, some —Continued on Page 7

News of the Theatres

THE McCARTER
An opening of note is scheduled for the McCarter's stage Friday night when Maxwell Anderson's newest production, "Barefoot in Athens," has its premiere performance. Barry Jones, a British actor, has been cast in the leading role. A Saturday night performance is scheduled but there will be no matinee.

The story is that of Socrates, the Greek philosopher whose thinking was well ahead of his time. Told in the form of a comedy-drama, the new play follows Socrates' independence and originality in both his way of life and his philosophy. It is Mr. Anderson's 27th play to go into production in the last 28 years, with a number of them ("Joan of Lorraine," "The Eve of St. Mark," "Lost in the Stars") achieving marked success in recent seasons.

Following its two-night stand here, "Barefoot in Athens" goes to Philadelphia for a fortnight. The New York opening is scheduled at the Martin Beck theatre on October 31.

"The Moon Is Blue," last weekend's offering, follows a tried and true recipe for turning out spun sugar. The result was bouncy frivolity with a core just about as nebulous as the fluffy stuff but generally good, light entertainment.

The hoy-meets-girl theme is embellished with a wolf-chases-girl angle that finally resolves into a hoy-bests-wolf ending. Action shifts from the observation tower of the Empire State building to a 49th Street apartment; the plot follows the amusing, frequently naive romancing of Coleen Gray with James Young, an architect, and Hiram Sherman, an affable, older neighbor who has a limitless capacity for drink and an equally ceaseless affection for womanhood in general.

Mr. Sherman took the acting honors, partially because his lines were studded with the largest number of laugh-producing quips but also because he carried out his role of the irresponsible, pleasure-loving divorcee to perfection. Miss Gray was charming and amusing as the discovery-bent daughter of a puritanical policeman; Mr. Young was possibly a step behind them in audience appeal but the difference was never unduly noticeable.

CHILDREN'S ENTERTAINMENTS
"Captain Kidd's Return" will launch the new season of Children's Entertainments on November 20; four other thoroughly suitable productions will follow in the McCarter to round out another year of these dramatic entertainments that have meant so much to —Continued on Page 11

$2,000 above last year's quota, has been set.

Red feathers will symbolize the campaign, with one given to every contributor. Direction of the door-to-door solicitation will be by the Rev. Robert H. Carley, acting pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Gifts made will help support the 11 member agencies throughout 1952, with the need greater than ever this year because drives for the past three years have been short of the established goal. Gifts made to the Chest may go to one or several of the agencies involved.

Those benefiting and the amounts assigned to them are Princeton Hospital, $29,000; Y.M.C.A., $23,000; Social Service Bureau, $22,209; Y.W.C.A., $13,500; Nursery School, $11,628; Boy Scouts, $2,700; Tuberculosis League, $2,500; N. J. Children's Home Society, $1,500; Girl Scouts, $1,205; Playgrounds Committee, $1,200; Planned Parenthood, $725.

Ballet Star to Teach Here. Antoinette Gohlke, who was the leading ballet dancer in the musical comedy, "Lend an Ear," will open a school of ballet this Thursday at the Y.M.C.A., 102 Witherspoon Street. Classes will be held Monday and Thursday afternoons, with further information available from Miss Gohlke at Plainsboro 3395-R-11.

Starting to dance at the age of 4, Miss Gohlke followed a professional career in Hollywood and San Francisco. She has appeared as a dancer in several motion pictures and as a soloist with the San Francisco Opera and Ballet companies.

Miss Gohlke is married to Robert Dixon, formerly of Hightstown, whom she met when he was the romantic tenor of "Lend an Ear." They are living in Princeton Junction.

Word of Caution. Princeton Township Planning Board this week reminded property owners who may be contemplating a subdivision of their land that copies of the rules and regulations governing such procedure are on file at Township Hall. Also there is a permanent exhibit of a map of the municipality showing major parts of the master plan and official map. The board itself meets the first Monday of each month at 8 p.m.

Miscellany. Daughters have been born to Mr. & Mrs. Robert F. Mooney, 9 Willow; Mr. & Mrs. Peter Warren, Province Line Road; Mr. & Mrs. William J. Goeke, Van Kirk Road; sons to Mr. & Mrs. Rathbun F. Mather, Edgerstonne; Mr. & Mrs. Clarence Rickert, Jr., 36 Moore; Mr. & Mrs. Ralph A. Dungan, Jr., 221-B Halsey; Mr. & Mrs. Thomas Hilbish, 23 Linden; Mr. & Mrs. George C. Young, Rosedale Road; Mr. & Mrs. William Dodrill, 68 William.

Dr. Geoffrey W. Estey of 6 Ober Road, a member of the N. J. State Department of Health, will speak at the first fall meeting of the High School PTA. His subject will be "Are Marks at Fault?" To be held Tuesday evening at 8:15 in the school auditorium, the meeting will be followed by a reception for the teachers.

Princeton Troop 88, Boy Scouts of America, will conduct a paper drive Saturday morning in the Jefferson Road-Moore Street area. Proceeds will be used to buy camping equipment. Adults supervising the drive include John Boles, Wilbur Young, Leroy Page, Ralph Coker, Norman Anderson and Kenneth Wilson.

Princeton Post No. 76, American Legion, will hold its monthly paper collection Sunday. Requests for special pickups may be made to Norman Fowler, chairman of the drive (2213-J.)

MACARTHUR FIRST CHOICE
OF EISENHOWER BACKERS
IF LATTER DOESN'T RUN

If General Eisenhower won't accept the GOP nomination for President, which Republican candidate would his Jersey supporters then prefer?

Results of a survey recently completed show that when Eisenhower's name is eliminated, General Douglas B. MacArthur becomes the number one choice of both regular Republicans and Independent in this state.

Among rank and file Republicans when "Ike's" name is excluded, survey findings show that MacArthur has an 8 percent lead over any of the others. Then come Warren and Stassen, with only a 1 percent difference between the two.

Last week the New Jersey Poll showed Eisenhower the favorite candidate among Jersey Republican voters. "Ike" captured 39 percent of the GOP votes, with MacArthur getting 16 percent; Taft 10 percent; Dewey, 10 percent; Stassen, 8 percent; Warren, 7 percent; and Driscoll, 7 percent. Three percent of the Republicans had no preference. Among independents, the General's appeal was almost as great.

To find out where the Eisenhower vote would go should "Ike" refuse to be a candidate, New Jersey Poll reporters asked the following question of all who named the General: "If Eisenhower refuses to be a Republican Presidential candidate in 1952, which one would you then like to see nominated as the Republican candidate for President?"

Here's how the 39-percent who named "Ike" voted:

MacArthur	9%
Stassen	9
Taft	6
Warren	5
Dewey	5
Driscoll	3
Don't know	2

Total naming "Ike" 39%

When these second choice votes are added to the votes the candidates received when Eisenhower's name was included, the results show:

MacArthur	25%
Stassen	17
Taft	16
Dewey	15
Warren	12
Driscoll	10
Don't know	5

And here's how the 35 percent independents who named "Ike" voted when his name was excluded from the list:

MacArthur	6%
Stassen	6
Warren	6
Driscoll	5
Taft	4
Dewey	2
Don't know	6

Total naming "Ike" 35%

When these second choice votes are added to the votes the candidates received when Eisenhower's name was included, the results show:

MacArthur	20%
Warren	16

Taft	13
Driscoll	10

SPORTS IN SHORT

Tigers, move Saturday to Franklin Field, the dark, towering stadium that is the graveyard of the last that long winning streak Princeton put together. On October 17, 1976, the Orange and Black traveled to Philadelphia with 12 straight to its credit. Lou Elverson ran back a first-period punt 57 yards for a touch-down and the only score of the day. Had Penn been on the schedule last week, Princeton might have been fairly sure of coming away with a victory, for the Quakers were thoroughly downcast after the 35-0 mauling they absorbed at California's hands. However, while Princeton was edging Navy, George Munger's lads were steamrolling Dartmouth 39-14. The Red and Blue ran and passed for 453 yards against the green while holding the

The victory and the scoring feel at the hands of an Ivy League opponent will give the sophomore-dominated Quakers a big lift for Saturday's clash. Possibly even more than Princeton, Penn has released graduated personnel with them in their first year on the var-

Munger's starting backfield, for example, consists of a senior, a junior and two sophomores, with allback Joe Varatits stamped as the one to watch. Alex Jaffurs, the senior in the quartet, is the quarterback. Chester Cornog, another sophomore, is the passer, while junior Tom Decker is the wingback. (Stepping Bob) is the wingback.

Like Navy, the Red and Blue will improve each Saturday and one day will become almost impossible to beat. The question is purely tactical. Whether Munger will have his politically acceptable operatives in mid-afternoon form by the time the third game on the schedule is played, Princeton will go with very few reserves.

lineup changes, although it is likely that Dick Yaffa will start at wingback in place of Dick Pivrotto, who got the call at Navy. There will be some shuffling at right tackle and right guard, with Cowles Herr and Stephen Aldrich battling for the tackle

KAZMAIER'S RUNNING PASS, TIGER SCORING PLAY THAT NAVY NEVER STOPPED

A black and white photograph of a basketball game in progress. Several players are visible on the court, with one player in the foreground wearing a jersey with the number 15. The background shows a large crowd of spectators seated in bleachers.

Three times last Saturday, tailback Dick Kazmaier pitched to Dick Pivrotto and George Stevens, each tossing leading the receiver away from the midshipmen's secondary and each going for a touchdown. Here the Nasau quarterback is shown gathering in the first of two aeriels he took into the end zone. The play occurred at 8:14 of the opening period and made it 14-0 for the unbeaten Tigers.

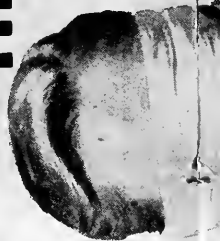

The last undefeated string to ten. The late time the Little Tigers tasted defeat was, in the final game of the 1949 season when they bowed to Long as St. Mary's edged out the Red and Black by 13-12 in a closely contested try at Edgerlounne Saturday afternoon.

With the leaves looked 5.5 f. B

Extra Point Defeat. Hun School dropped its first game of the season by the margin of a single point.

The Little Tigers virtually sewed the game up with a 27-point second half outburst. After Wilson interrupted a Hamilton pass on the visit to the 36, Princeton went over for its first TD. Three plays followed in quick succession to wrap up the game.

lost when that pass was dropped. Navy's fumbling was the other big difference between the teams: the losers gave up possession four times in this fashion, Princeton only once. The last fumble cut the sailors' time allotment on the last-ditch drive from four and a half minutes to 65 seconds—the time remaining when Princeton finally stalled out on the middies' seven-yard line.

There is little or no reason to pick either team as the favorite, despite the Tigers' fine first-half performance against Navy. Penn. the choice of many to take the Ivy League title, is potentially a better team than the middies because of its greater depth.

The law of averages is, of course, beginning to work hard against the Tigers. Not only have they gone unbeaten for 15 games in a row, but at the outset of this season they did not figure to top both Navy and Pennsylvania. Still and all the figures of other games can't affect the outcome of this one, and a performance as good as that at Annapolis last week should win for the Orange and Black in Philadelphia Saturday.

High School Rolls. Princeton High School's football team will continue defense of its Mercer County laurels Friday afternoon at 3 when it faces a thrice-defeated Trenton High team at the high school field.

The Little Tigers ruled the county roost last year, downing Trenton High and Hamilton while tying Trenton Catholic. It appears as if they may turn the trick again. Last Friday's 33-7 triumph over Hamilton gave every indication that Joe Jingo's eleven is again ticketed for a good season.

This week's game does not figure to be too much of a contest. Trenton High has shown little punch in its three defeats, the last of which was by 32-0 to Camden High. Trenton Catholic, which Princeton will meet a week from Friday, is rated as just an average team.

As 2,200 looked on at University Field, P.H.S. struck through the air fast and often to down Hamilton. Connecting on 11 of 17 passes, the Little Tigers picked up 212 yards via the aerial route. They scored three of their five touchdowns by this method.

Fullback Freddy Wilson, Bud Bosley and Captain Buster Thomas led the Princeton attack. Wilson threw two touchdown passes and scored once himself. Thomas was on the receiving end of both of Wilson's scoring heaves, while Bosley hit pay dirt once on an off-tackle slant from nine yards out and threw to end Walt Wells for another Princeton score. All three extra points were the result of Bosley's placekicks.

Held to a scant five yards in 11 carries, Dick Kazmaier completed ten of 19 passes for 102 yards and three touchdowns. Dick Pivrotto scored the first and George Stevens the last two. Jack Newell's accurate left foot booted all three extra points and the first field goal Princeton has made, or tried, since Frank Reichel's placement patted the mist on Baker Field in October of '48 for a 16-14 triumph over Columbia.

The big ground gainer for the Tigers was fullback Russ McNell, who lugged the ball through the middle 25 times for 117 yards and a line 4.7 average. The middies spread their defenses wide to stop Kaz, but gave up more yardage to McNell's plunges than was advantageous to their cause.

In raising their count to 15 straight and thereby preserving the nation's longest major college winning streak, the Tigers showed signs of improvement and at the same time gave indications that some departments will be weak points throughout the season. On the plus side, George Stevens is gaining experience as a field general; John Emery is off to a fine start as a sure-fingered pass receiver; Pete Weimar is a fixture as a sophomore at right tackle on the defensive platoon; Homer Smith is showing up particularly as a linebacker; Jack McGillicuddy had far and away his best day as a defensive left half; and Frank McPhee is developing into one of the very best ends in this section of the country.

On the debit side of the ledger, however, the offensive line from tackle to tackle isn't showing the blocking ability to shake the backs loose. With Kazmaier on hand, the Tigers figured to do plenty of pitching this year but they must have a ground game to assure deception. Defensively, the trouble in the second half was largely due to exhaustion but there was evidence that the pass defense is still spotty. It did, however, improve over the opening game with N.Y.U. and is not likely ever to be poor while the first-string platoon is in action.

So, two up and seven to go, the is anxious to start Saturday morning classes after November 10 for anyone who would like to have their children given a chance at this sort of thing—or more mundanely, like a couple of hours of peace and quiet on a football weekend. You may call her at 3122-M until November 1.

As a P. S. to all of this—but really quite a terrific brainstorm in itself—Mrs. Jones will copy family coats of arms if you've ended up with a family of full-grown offspring and only one escutcheon to split amongst them. Twelve dollars to $15 is the price for all this Burke's Peerage know-how.

Finally we've met a baby sitter who really adores working and playing with children—a happy discovery in this day and age when most sitters sit firmly on the sofa while chaos blooms around them. Her name is Katherine Campbell and with 24 hours notice she'll come sit for you for anything from a couple of hours to a whole week-end, taking over entirely the routine and amusement of your sprouts. Her charge is above the average—$1 an hour—but so are her capabilities. We haven't seen such enthusiasm in a month of Sundays off.

The excellent course in shorthand and typing sponsored by the Princeton Employment Agency and under the direction of Joseph Drulis. The typing section of all this business is complete, but a baker's half-dozen more pupils are needed to get the shorthand section underway.

The course meets for 48 hours on Monday and Wednesday evening between 7:30 and 9:30 at Princeton High School. So if you've always had a yen to be a whiz with the pothooks you can sign up by calling Princeton 41.

Rex Gorley's wonderful course in arts and crafts at Group Arts, where again this year many of the pieces done in the classes will be on sale. Nice to note ahead of the Christmas rush while you still have time to think coherently about gifts in relation to their rightful owners.

thousands of boys and girls over a period of the past two decades.

Complete details of the various plays will be found on page 14, together with ticket information. They are recommended for children from grades one through eight, but not for kindergarten age or younger.

Mrs. Richard Shope is chairman of the committee arranging the series, which Town Topics feels is a distinct addition to community life and well deserving of support by parents of younger children. Serving with Mrs. Shope are Mrs. Elmer Homrighausen, vice chairman; Mrs. Paul Rudnick, publicity; Mrs. Oscar Sussman, tickets; Mrs. Merle Lawrence, treasurer; and Mrs. Joseph Strayer, ushers. Ex-officio members include Woodhull Davis, Chester Stroup, Howard Waxwood Jr., Mrs. Lefterts A. Loetscher and Mrs. Gerald Breese. Sponsorship is by the Borough Elementary School PTA.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

A youth concert by the Princeton Symphony Orchestra on Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 in the McCarter will be followed by an adult concert that evening at 8:30. Tickets for the children's program are 60 cents, with adults accompanying them admitted for $1.20. Seats are unreserved and on sale at all schools and the box office. Evening prices are scaled from $1.20 to $3, and may be obtained in advance from the Princeton Symphony Orchestra Association, 110 Jefferson Road.

Nicholas Harsanyi will conduct, with Mrs. Harold Van Doren the narrator and Ossy Renardy appearing as violin soloist. The afternoon program will consist of Tocatta by Frescobaldi-Kindler; five pieces for string orchestra by Hindemith; Rondo Capriccioso by Saint-Saens as the violin solo; and Polka and Fugue from "Shvanda" by Weinberger. spelled victory. Less than two minutes after the second half started Tom Kennedy hit Ernie Rokose on a 35-yard pass play to put St. Mary's in front. Another Kennedy-Rokose pass accounted for the 13th and deciding point.

Hun fought back shortly thereafter when Dennis Beecher broke loose on a 41-yard jaunt after receiving a short pass from Russ Summers. Summers, however, missed the conversion attempt.

Beecher also scored Hun's other touchdown. It came on a three-yard huck immediately after the start of the second period. The game ended as Summers connected on two desperation passes to bring the ball to midfield from deep in Hun territory.

Hun will face Pennsylvania Military College Prep School away this Saturday. The Red and Black will be looking for its first victory under the tutelage of Jess Willard, who took over the reins at the start of this season.

Hollywood Finish. A 55-yard desperation pass-play in the final 17 seconds of the game gave the Eagles football team a 6-0 victory over Passaic A.C. in its first home contest of the season Sunday. With the clock ticking away the final minute, Dave Ozanski faded back on the rain-swept high school field and hit Bobby King on the 25 yard line. King raced over with the winning score.

A key block by Red Triant sprung King loose for the final few yards on the game-deciding play. The

THE BEST PAIR OF DEFENSIVE ENDS IN THE EAST

Tom Hennon (left) and Frank McPhee are regarded by many impartial observers as second to none among the defensive ends in this section of the country. Against Navy, McPhee blocked a punt that led to the first Princeton score and Hennon recovered a fumble that set up the Tigers' second touchdown. Hennon is a senior who lives in Princeton; McPhee, a junior, comes from Youngstown, O. Their ability to check Pennsylvania at the ends this weekend will be vital to a Princeton victory, since the Quakers have an unusually fast set of backs who feature deep sweeps and reverses.

A meeting of all those who have registered as air spotters under Civilian Defense has been called for next Thursday evening at 8:15 in Borough Hall. Hayward Greenland, in charge of the air raid warning system here, has urged all those who did not attend the last meeting to be present. Captain, Leonard Frick, USAF, will speak.

Governmental problems at the local, county and state levels will be discussed at the candidates' meeting to be sponsored on October 24 by the League of Women Voters. They will range from the library situation in Princeton township to the ability of New Jersey's present tax system to raise the amount of revenue necessary to run the state.

Lewis C. Bowers & Sons was the low bidder of three construction firms seeking the contract to build a new wing on Borough Hall. The figure of $7,662 for the job was nearly $1,000 below the second lowest bid.

Twenty-five residents of Harold Avenue have petitioned the mayor and council to assume municipal ownership of their street, thus affording them better police and fire protection, drainage and garbage collection. A meeting of those interested will be held Wednesday night at 8 in Borough Hall. Witherspoon Lane residents have asked similar action.

The Women's Society of Christian

Services of the at Church will hold its annual bazaar sale next Thursday in the church social room 9 to 5.
Mrs. N. A. Webb, sale chairman, will arrange for the sale of articles Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Assisting her a Mrs. Chester contest, played in a heavy downpour, found both outfits threatening several times. Aided by the slippery footing, however, each team's defensive alignment prevailed until the final minute.

The triumph proved the Eagles' 1951 record at 1-1. They bowed to the Pendel A.C. by 16-7 in the season's opener.

Manager Jack Petrone's eleven will encounter Lambertville next Sunday. The next home game will be on October 28 when the Rahway Indians will provide the opposition, while on Armistice Day the Eagles will meet White Horse here.

EUROPA THEATRE
Well-liked by Princetonians for its varied offerings, among them the best in foreign pictures, New Brunswick's Europa Theatre is presenting the first run in this area of the outstanding British production, "Tales of Hoffman." Performances start Monday, with full information on page six.
The film is a picturesque and melodious presentation of Offenbach's opera, imaginatively portrayed in Technicolor and well sung by a fine cast. Much of the music is provided by Sir Robert Beecham and the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra.
The picture's press notices are as superlative as any a film has achieved in some years. They range from "most certainly the outstanding motion picture of the season," to "the most beautiful thing pictorially ever seen in any entertainment medium." There's little doubt it's well worth the trip to New Brunswick.

THE PLAYHOUSE
No Highway in the Sky (Thurs.-Sat.) is James Stewart's latest, in which he is cast with Marlene Dietrich and British actress Glynis Johns. He takes the role of a research scientist in an aircraft manufacturing plant who determines that a certain make plane will disintegrate in the air after it has flown for a number of hours. The climax, a bit jerry-built but generally interesting and amusing, occurs when he finds himself flying for Labrador on one of the supposedly doomed craft.
The Day the Earth Stood Still (Sun.-Tues.) is an above-average science-fiction drama that records what befell the earth when an inter-planetary visitor makes a 250-million-mile journey to impart the secret on which the earth's future depends. From another world thousands of years more advanced than this, Klaatu drives his 4,000-mile-an-hour spaceship to Washington, D. C. and the unusual adventures begin. Told with a mixture of restraint and deserved satire of earthly international bickering, the story is a good blend of realism and fantasy.
Desert Fox (Thurs.-Sat.) is based on a somewhat sympathetic biography of the late Erwin Rommel, German field marshall who battled the British and Americans in Africa during the early years of World War II. The picture does not distort facts in his favor, but merely indicates that there were members of the Nazi regime who fought with honor and turned away from

Hitler fell before the war's end.
Rommel was implicated in the unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Hitler. An unusual, well documented film.

THE GARDEN
Kind Lady (Fri.-Sat.), a classic in the field of thrillers, tells a suspense-packed story about a goodhearted old spinster who takes an impoverished artist into her home, only to become his prisoner while he sells her possessions out from under her. Ethel Barrymore and Maurice Evans in a thoroughly entertaining drama.

Cyrano de Bergerac (Mon-Tues.), here for a repeat showing, casts Princeton's Jose Ferrer in the familiar role of the long-nosed romanticist of Rostand's classic drama. A faithful, moving presentation of the story about a swordsman-poet who wooed his beloved for another man.

Bitter Rice (Wed.-Thurs.), an Italian-made drama that has been particularly well received in this country, spins a forceful, realistic tale of life in the rice fields. Sil-vana Mangano, an actress noticeable for both her ability and her figure, is the central character; action develops when a pair of jewel thieves join migrant workers on an abandoned estate and one plots to steal the harvest. Pace and treatment are both superior.

Mark of the Renegade (Fri.- Sat.), set in Mexico, is a somewhat complicated adventure piece that deals in blackmail, romance and piacé. Swordplay and pistol duels are tossed in to keep the plot boiling. Average stuff, with Ricardo Montalban and newcomer Cyd Charisse.
